Burlington net up for quarter

At the annual meeting of stockholders, president Harry C. Murphy announced that net income of the Burlington Railroad for the first quarter of 1962 increased to $2,874,045 from $2,661,424 in the same period last year, up $212,621 or 8.0%. Operating revenues also increased, to $62,775,108 from $59,646,793. Operating expenses were $49,635,631, compared to $47,782,336 in the same quarter of last year. Higher costs were due largely to severe weather conditions during the first quarter causing substantial heavy expense. "Second quarter revenues should approximate those of same period last year," he added.

Mr Murphy said it is difficult to predict the outcome of the second half, but a good grain crop is forecast in Burlington's territory and he hopes 1962 will prove to be as good or somewhat better than last year.

The railroad's 1961 annual report, released at the meeting, showed a gain of $1.9 million in net income, to $14.4 milioln. Operating revenues increased by $3 million, to $254.1 million. Operating expenses declined to $201 9 million, from $203.9 million during 1960. Dividends of $7.50 per share were paid in 1961, the 100th consecutive year of payment.

The railroad earned 81 per cent of its revenues from freight, and 14 per cent from passengers, mail and express. Payrolls and payroll taxes took 55 7 per cent of income, and materials and supplies, second largest expenditure, required 12.5 per cent. Employees were paid $131 6 million, and additional benefits to employees and their families amounted to $11 4 million. Federal, state and local tax collectors exacted $27.9 million.

I can offer the best advice to home owners troubled by we ds in lawns

Pull 'em out!

Up on the north 40, John Kroese, my neighbor, apparently has declared war on the weeds in his lawn John, you see, sodded his ground and so has a head start on weed growing

Master Kroese and his Missus are down on their hands and knees (weed pulling Mr Geib) hard at it every day and even at noon And from the looks of their fine lawn, I'd say they are winning the battle

-:- -:- -:-

Ed Flake of Flake Seed Center, sez just in case you missed a few spots fertilizing your lawn, go back over those "missed" spots to be sure the grass is fed then redo the whole shebang just to wrap up the job proper

Mr Flake sez the best way to get rid of pepper grass is to pull out each plant by the roots all four to six inches of the roots If you're just a little bit tired of pulling, mow off the tops of pepper grass to keep it from seeding and spreading Then pull out the plants at convenient times

Now is the time to get those trees planted, but a little early for some small plants May 10 is the old faithful time to do much of the planting, figuring of course that the frosts are long gone

Up thar on the north 40, we planted two hybrid elms and one tulip tree The man said oncet the elms get started (that could be one to two years) they will grow 10 to 15 feet a year yas'm that's what the man said The tulip tree grows to a monstrous 80 feet if you wait 20 or 30 years and has yaller blossoms of sort that smell purty.

Whilst visiting a relative in California a couple years ago, I found a man who had the greenest of green leafed trees He didn't go for the packaged fertilizer stuff, but instead burrowed fish into the ground near tree trunks claims it really works

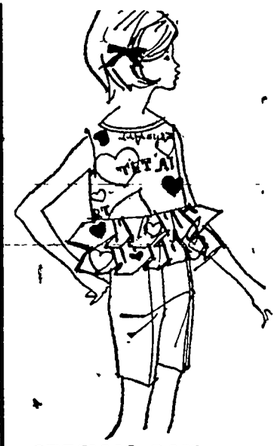

Boy picked up — Lewis R Parrott was picked up by police Tuesday afternoon after he was reported fighting He was booked to appear in police court on a disorderly conduct charge Saturday
