

Sayers could have aided KC

Kansas City Chiefs

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)— What might have been the winning solution for the Kansas City Chiefs this year is wearing a Chicago Bears uniform

The big one that got away was All-America halfback Gale Sayers of Kansas, the Chiefs' No. 1 draft pick. Sayers would have given Kansas City what it needs most, a break-away threat in the backfield.

Otherwise, the Chiefs appear solid. The Kansas City defense is outstanding, its passing game is a dangerous threat and the Chiefs' kicking game is among the best in professional football.

"What we need is more quality at running back," coach Hank Stram admits.

His top running prospect is fullback Mack Lee Hill, who as a rookie last year led AFL ball carriers with a 5.4 rushing average. While Hill is the inside man, the problem of the outside man is unsolved.

Coan Best Bet

Best bet for the job is former Kansas star Bert Coan, an injury prone halfback. When Coan is in bandages the job could be Curtis McClinton's, a fullback by nature.

The possible solution is rookie Ron Heller from Southern Cal, a recent reject from the Green Bay Packers.

The prime hope for the Chiefs, if they are to be Western Division title contenders, lies on the passing arm of veteran quarterback Len Dawson, who pitched the Chiefs — then the Dallas Texans—to the AFL title in 1962.

Walker cup play to start Friday

BALTIMORE (UPI) — British and American teams will get in their final practice rounds today for the Walker Cup golf tournament Friday and Saturday, and the performance of British team captain Joe Carr will decide whether or not he will participate.

Carr has been unhappy with his practice rounds.

He said his decision would depend on whether he feels his years of experience would be of more value in or out of the lineup.

The 43-year-old golf master said, "When I accepted the captaincy of the team, I made up my mind that I would not let anything stand in the way of doing what is best for the team.

"If I am convinced I can get the job done better than the next man I will not show heroics and step aside. But there is something to be said about keeping my eye on the over-all picture by staying out."

Koufax fans 10 but team loses

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Another record went up by the name of Sandy Koufax today but the Dodger southpaw would happily exchange it for a victory.

Koufax fanned 10 Pirates Wednesday night to give him 313 for the season, breaking his own National League record of 306. Bob Feller owns the major league mark with 348.

Koufax lost the game, 3-2, on an 11th-inning double by Jim Paliaroni. It was his seventh loss against 21 wins.

"It was disappointing," Koufax conceded. But not personally, he emphasized.

"I'm pitching for the team to win," he said. "When they win, I'm happy. When they don't, I'm not."

Palmer back in form for tourney

OKLAHOMA CITY, (UPI) — Defending champion Arnold Palmer, undoubtedly back in top form, led a field of 145 golfers into the first round of the $65,000 Oklahoma City Open today.

Palmer, winner of only one major tournament since he won the Oklahoma City Open a year ago, removed all doubts about his imposing challenge for this year's title Wednesday.

He covered the Quail Creek Golf and Country Club's 7,173-yard course with a four-under-par 68 to tie for low professional honors with unheralded Howie Johnson in a pro-am event. Both won $325.

"I played pretty well," Palmer said modestly.

Red-hot Pirates whip Dodger aces

By GEORGE C. LANGFORD

The Pittsburgh Pirates are through helping the other National League contenders catch up. Now they have their own designs on the pennant.

The streaking Pirates, who have captured 10 of their last 11 games, jerked the league lead out from under Los Angeles Wednesday night by beating Dodger aces Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, enabling the Cincinnati Reds to take over first place.

By whipping the Dodgers twice, 3-2 in 11 innings and 2-1, the fifth-place Pirates moved within 2½ games of the top and hurled the NL race into a chaotic state rivaling the 1964 stretch drive.

Even seventh-place St. Louis was left only eight games behind in the wake of the benevolent Pirates' sweep.

The Pirates handed Koufax his third straight loss with a two out walk in the 11th followed by Jim Pagliaroni's run-scoring double then trumped Drysdale, who hasn't beaten a first division team in six weeks, with two singles in the eighth and a ground ball which shortstop Maury Wills boosted.

Breaks Strikeout Mark

Koufax, as expected, broke his own National League strikeout record of 306, fanning 10 Pirates to increase his season's total to 313 — just 35 short of Bob Feller's major league mark. The Dodger southpaw allowed eight hits as he failed for the fifth time to win his 22nd. He is 21-7.

Vern Law scattered seven hits to win his 16th game and eighth straight in the nightcap. Joe Gibbon worked the final six innings of the opener, allowing three hits, to win his fourth game.

Bowling Highlights

Red Line Oil and Shirley Bros. took the lead at 4-0 in the Tri-County bowling league which opened at the V Lanes Wednesday night.

Jim Stanley with a 222 game and Chuck Lemrick with a 567 series topped the first night of bowling.

Egyptian Candor wins Hambletonian

EU QUOIN, Ill. (UPI) — Endurance was the mark of the champion today, Egyptian Candor.

The 3-year-old colt survived three grueling heats on a cuppy rough track, winning one of them, and then surged from behind in a fourth heat held almost in darkness to win harness racing's most prized event, the $122,245 Hambletonian for trotters.

Redskins starter fights, leaves camp

CARLISLE, Pa. (UPI) —The Washington Redskins were still looking today for first string guard George Seals, missing since he walked out of the squad's training camp Tuesday night after an argument with defensive tackle Joe Rutgens.

Seals nearly came to blows with Rutgens during a scrimmage. He left the field, obviously angry and upset, and disappeared during the night. A team official said he had no idea where the big player might have gone.

$110,000 suit filed for catcher

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Attorney Leo Branton Jr. has filed a $110,000 suit for Los Angeles Dodger catcher John Roseboro against Juan Marichal and the San Francisco Giants.

Branton said he filed the assault and battery complaint in Roseboro's behalf Wednesday, naming both the Giant pitcher and the National Exhibition Co., which operates the Giants.

The suit asks $10,000 in general damages and $100,000 in exemplary and punitive damages.

Prizes awarded at golf dinner

Twenty-six couples attended the Nebraska City Women's Golf Association dinner at Steinhart Lodge Wednesday evening as the closing event of the season.

Prizes were presented for the low ring scores to, Class A, Mrs Bill Gangel; Class B., Mrs T. L. Weekes; and Class C, (tie), Mrs Arthur Sweet and Mrs Robert Whipple.

Mrs Elmer Kasbohm received the prize for the most improved golfer of the year.

The women will continue to play golf each Wednesday morning as long as the weather permits but there will not be any pairings.

Mrs John Brust, president of N. C. Women's Golfers Bowling Association, and officers met Thursday afternoon at the V-Lanes with Mrs Virgil Miller to make plans for the coming season.

Jayhawks plan passing game

By BILL OSTHOFF
United Press International
—The Kansas Jayhawks—

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — The Kansas Jayhawks enter the 1965 season with a "new look." But when its over, Jayhawker football fans may have liked the results of the "old look" better.

Kansas could have tied Nebraska for the Big Eight title last year with a victory over Missouri in its season finale but wound up third. This season, according to the prognosticators, the Jayhawks must scramble for a first division finish.

For the first time in three years Kansas is without the league's most electrifying runner. Gone is two-time All America halfback Gale Sayers of Omaha, the Big Eight's most prolific ground gainer.

"You just don't replace a Gale Sayers," is Coach Jack Mitchell's quick summation of the problem.

But Mitchell lost more than Sayers. In all, he lost 16 lettermen including 12 of his top 24 players through graduation and the recovery of three of his line stalwarts from knee injuries is a question mark.

Passing May Help

The "new look," promises Mitchell, will be passing. The Jayhawks threw the ball 81 times in their spring game last May compared to 122 passes for their entire 10-game schedule last fall.

The Jayhawk mentor knows the loss of Sayers lessens his chances of pulling off the big play. Mitchell hopes that passing will help balance the attack.

His passer will be junior quarterback Bobby Skahan, a scrambling 5-foot-10, 180-pounder who had only one interception in 96 throws last year. He'll have a string of 68 without an interception when Kansas opens against Texas Tech Sept. 18.

The Jayhawks will operate offensively from the "T" or "I" formations with senior left-half Mike Johnson the top running treat. Other probable backfield starters are slotback J.C. Hixon and fullback DickBacon. All except Hixon are lettermen.

With the heavy graduation losses, Kansas is confronted with the problem of inexperience and lack of depth. Mitchell notes he may have to go with as many as 26 or 27 sophomores in his top 44 players.

Top rookie prospects include linebacker Levi Lee, devensive end and tackle Mike Sweatman and offensive tackle Bob Hudspeth, a 6-foot-5, 280-pounder.

Kicking Adequate

Question marks because of knee injuries are end Mike Shinn, guard Dick Pratt and tackle Bill Perry. All underwent surgery last fall and Mitchell rates none better than a 70 per cent chance of finishing the season.

Shinn, an All America candidate last year, was injured in K.U.'s opener against Texas Christian and is a hardship case. Mitchell is contemplating moving the 235-pounder to tackle, where he says the club is weakest, if Shinn's knee stands up under fire.

The Jayhawker defense should improve. Fourteen lettermen return on defense including standout end Jeff Elias. Top offensive linemen are tackle George Harvey, a 245-pounder, and Pratt, a 268-pounder.

The Kansas kicking game should be adequate with Johnson and Wally Hinshaw handling the punting chores. Johnson, who booted 15 times for a 39.7 average a year ago, finished third in the conference and is the loop's top returning punter.

The Jayhawks posted a 6-4 over-all record last year and finished 5-2 in the conference. With the breaks, Kansas could finish as high as third again this season.

The key is the "new look" offense. If it doesn't click, the line between third and sixth will be thin.

FIRST WIN

OSLO (UPI) — Lyn Oslo of Norway took the first leg in the European Cup soccer play Tuesday with a 5-3 victory over Derry City of northern Ireland.

The teams will play the second game Sept. 9 at Derry.
