Jet turbulence blamed in crash

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Chicago Tribune reported in a copyrighted story today that turbulence created by an intercontinental jet departing O'Hare International Airport was the probable cause of the crash of a North Central airliner Dec. 27, killing 28 persons.

Tribune Aviation Editor Wayne Thomis said:

"The invisible whorls of air—much like horizontal cyclones—slammed into the 40,000 - pound Convair (580) as it slowed down within 100 feet of the ground, in what otherwise was a safe and excellent approach through low clouds and poor visibility to Runway 14-R, the primary instrument landing strip in use in the early evening darkness."

The field that evening was heavily fogged in.

Sister Vincent Mary, whose responsibility at St. Mary's includes 40 third graders, is looking forward to a big snow this year.

She is from Owensboro, Kentucky.

It will be a delightful experience for the Sister when 40 little boys and girls rush to her all at one time and want help with their overshoes.

The Union Pacific will likely toot its horn this spring when the 100th anniversary rolls around of the driving of the golden spike.

Remember the story?

E.H. Bailey, president of UP, wrote the other day that the golden spike linking the UP and Central Pacific was "at Promontory Summit, Utah, May 10, 1869, and signaled the completion of the first trans-continental railroad."

Mr Bailey sent along a copy of an oldtime poster announcing the cross-country rail service.

The one-side no parking situation that exists on South Seventeenth Street for a single block may have come about as a courtesy to taxpayers or as a traffic clearance necessity.

But either way, it's a shame that a taxpayer has to solicit his neighbors and the City commission to keep harmony in streets.

Wonder what neighbors did when Joneses had company on a hot Sunday afternoon and horses were "parked" in the streets? Who cleaned it up?

+ + + + +

The parking question points to the necessity of planned parking and some type of appointive city administration to take the "heat" off city commissioners.

The appointment of Dale Payne as an "administrative assistant" for the Sarpy county board, may be a coming thing, unless taxpayers put a halt to it.

Payne receives $10,000 a year in the position, perhaps a new kind of lobbying for county officials. We can do without elected officials lobbying for elected officials.

If this sort of appointment sets a pattern, then the taxpayers will be paying elected officials to pay an assistant to spend more tax money. . . . .some merry-go round.

Yours truly
