

Commander Thomas C. Bosworth, USN, is the new executive officer at NSGA Bremerhaven, Germany. His a son of Mrs Hazel Bosworth of Nebraska City and the late Charles Bosworth.

Commander Bosworth reported from Washington, D.C., with his wife, Letarae, and their three sons, Timothy, Rodger and Thomas.

The commander is a veteran of 14 years in the Navy. He is a graduate of Peru State college where he majored in education. He was commissioned an ensign in 1954 at the Naval Reserve Training School, Newport, R.I. He has served in Morocco, Japan, Canada and Washington, D.C.

The commander, as a member of the Physical Evaluation board in Washington, in 1961, received a letter of recognition for outstanding performance. He recently earned recognition in Washington as Head, Operations Branch, Project Clarinet Bullseye Coordination Office.

In Great Britain, in the latter part of the 18th century, it was considered by law high treason to "imagine" the death of the king, queen-consort or the heir apparent of the crown, according to the first edition of the Encyclopedia Britanmca in 1768

Art Sackles told me that Bill Bischof "has a good story." And he sure does.

If you read it the other day without snifflin' just a bit, you've got no sentimentality you're too mean and ornery or too busy counting your money.

Bill took a shine to the six-year-old orphan in France during WWII. And although he modestly says he didn't do much, he'd have a whale of a time convincing that woman today.

She remembered the GI and she spent 25 years looking for him. She is now a mother of an eight-year-old son and a resident of Las Vegas where her husband is employed with the Hughes Tool company.

+ + + + +

Mary Gardner, who is not an aunt of Bill, went to France on a tour in 1950, five years after the Nebraska City GI had seen the orphan child.

Miss Gardner said she does not recall how she located the child, except that she met her in the company of another older girl.

The trio had lunch together and Paulette was whisked away by her companion after the meal.

That was the last seen of her.

Imagine the reunion will be quite interesting.

Mrs Tom (Myrna) Powell has been working several weeks on stories for the American Legion on its 50th birthday and she has found valuable information in the national Legion magazine.

The only known picture of the organizational meeting held in 1919 in Paris, was reprinted in the March issue.

At the Legion meeting the other night, Earl Story pointed to one of the soldiers in the picture and to a man who was having dinner with Legionnaires of Adam Schellinger Post No. 8.

He is Tom Foster, 75, 1705 First Avenue.

+ + + + +

Mr Foster said he was only at the meeting for an hour and a half, didn't know a picture had been taken and had never seen the 50-year-old picture that appeared in the Legion magazine.

It was quite a surprise.

+ + + + +

Mr Foster spent many hours looking at the picture with a magnifying glass and he couldn't help but feel unsure that was him.

Not so for the better half. Mrs Foster took one look at the young soldier dressed in his WWI uniform and said that is her husband.

Air Force Cadet David Nielsen, Plattsmouth, who was pictured the other day, is the cadet who welcomed a group of newsmen and Nebraska Guard General Lyle Welch on a visit last spring to the Air Force Academy.

The cadet met with Nebraska newsmen briefly in the conference room then returned to his heavy schedule of classes. He was cited the other day for high scholastic ability.

BABYSITTING CLINIC — Dr. R. C. Weldon will speak at the second in a series of babysitting clinics at Nebraska City Senior High school at 8 p.m. Monday. A film will also be shown. The clinics are sponsored by the Jaycee Jaynes.

Classified ad sells the seed

Do News-Press classified ads get results?

Robert Beccard of Nebraska City thinks they do.

Mr Beccard advertised red clover seed for sale. He ran the ad just one day because he sold out before we could print it the second and third time.

You can get the same kind of results with a News-Press classified ad. Just telephone 873-3334 for an ad taker.

Chief issues order for arrest of son

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI)—"You have to end up doing what you believe is right," Police Chief Clifford Murray said Friday, explaining why he ordered his own son arrested on narcotics charges.

"I can't enforce the law if it doesn't apply to everybody," Murray said. "If my kid has to go down the tubes, that's the way it has to be. I had to make a decision."

Murray's son Steven, 21, was arrested by his father's detectives Feb. 6 while washing his car in the driveway of his father's home. He has been charged with four counts of possession of heroin and marijuana and is awaiting arraignment in Superior Court.

Officicers said a small amount of heroin and five kilos of marijuana, valued at about $500, was found in the youth's car.

"I had information about what my son allegedly was doing and assigned my detectives to investigate it," the police chief of this southern California coastal city said.

"You have to separate your personal feelings from your professional feelings," the elder Murray continued. "You have to end up doing what you believe is right."

It may not be perfect—but it works

Advertising, like the Liberty Bell, may not be perfect, but it works. It works to keep millions of Americans on the job and enjoying the highest standard of living the world has ever known.

It works to help build and sell over a million new homes a year, plus all the latest gadgets and appliances that go in them.

It works to put millions of new cars on the road this year . . . even paves the way for the thousands of new roads they'll run on.

It works to ring up billions of dollars in sales all by itself each year. No, advertising may not be perfect. But—like the Liberty Bell—it works. And it works best when it rings true.

THE INCREDIBLE CREDIT CARD HAS ARRIVED!

...and it's good as cash at stores and service outlets all over town.

BankAmericard has come to town. It's the nation's fastest growing and most popular charge card plan, and its convenience and simplicity have already made it "the incredible credit card" to more than 16,000,000 cardholders coast to coast.

What's so great about BankAmericard?

BankAmericard is more than a local charge card; more than a travel-and-entertainment card. It's a family all-purpose credit card—and it's free No dues, no membership fees. BankAmericard packs your wallet with all sorts of buying power. Use it for clothing, jewelry, gasoline, tires, airline tickets, motel accommodations, emergency repairs. You can even get cash with it. What's more, your BankAmericard is honored at more than 397,000 stores and service establishments throughout the nation.

It need not cost you a cent—ever.

Sounds better all the time doesn't it? It is. In fact, you have 25 days from monthly statement date to pay for your BankAmericard purchases at no additional cost whatsoever. And think of the convenience of receiving just one bill with all your sales slips included, and writing just one check! Your bookkeeping and budgeting become much easier, too.

If you wish, you may automatically extend your payments over many months for only the normal retail carrying charge. You need not even notify us of your preference to spread your payments. Simply return your statement with a check for as little as 1/20th of the total due, or a minimum of $10. So pay within 25 days at no charge, or spread your payments for a modest fee—it's all up to you!

"Instant Cash."

Here's a real bonus feature for weekends, emergencies, or when traveling away from home. Just present your card at any of 3000 participating BankAmericard banks, and, for a small fee, charge "Instant cash." Extend your payments if you wish.

Charge all over town with it.
