When born, a bear cub is about nine inches long and weighs only about 10 or 12 ounces.

SETTING THE STYLE, the younger generation has taken to the maxi coat now that they've influenced their mothers to raise hemlines above the knees. These photos made in New York show that the long-length coat has caught on with young women. Whether skirts and dresses will follow the trend remains to be seen.

YOUTH BEAT

THE NATIONAL REPORT ON WHAT'S HAPPENING

By ROGER DOUGHTY

READER BREEDER—Who said the youth of America is hooked on pornography (lots of people, that's who)? Figures from publishers don't back up the claim. Word from the New Yorker, which has never gone near the stuff, is that the magazine's circulation has more than doubled with the college crowd during the past year.

NOSE JOB—Milton, our mistreated mailman, came in from downwind with a note from Cool Milt of Pittsburgh, Pa (not to be confused with any other Cool Milts), who is part of a band called Wild Garlic, which, of course, is part of Wild Garlic Enterprises. Another Pittsburgh reader, Mrs Jessie Laury, says her son's outfit is known as The No Name Wait till Wild Garlic hears about that.

SOUND OFF—Jac Holzman, No. 1 guy at Elektra Records, likes Youth Beat's vibrations and wants to give our readers a chance to show off their talents, if any. If there's music in your soul, ship us your audition tapes, care of this paper, and we'll pass 'em along to Jac, who'll give them a listen. Who knows, you might become the next Bread (might even make some).

EDITORS NOTE—School papers lay it on the line these days (lots of 'em do, anyway), but to a limited readership. If your paper is taking a stand on an issue that you think would be of interest to other kids in other schools, send us a clip If we like what we see, we'll reprint your items in a special section to be called Sounding Board. Let's hear from you PROM PLANS—How far ahead do you plan your after-prom dates? In New York, Jules Podell says he's already swamped with reservations for the prom season at his Copacabana, which takes in a lot of advance planning, when you consider that the season officially starts in mid-April.

SNOW BLOWS—If you live in snow country, here is a tip from Don Hammond, a commissioner at Holiday Mountain Park in the youth-oriented ski country of Sullivan County, N.Y., up in the Catskills "Get up quickly after falling down and get out of the way of other skiers If you leave a 'sitzmark,' fill it and stamp the snow down." We'll have more pointers if you ever get past this one.

Dr. Dorothy Newbury, the mission educator who spoke at the Chamber banquet last week, enjoys her work in Liberia so much that she finds it hard to cut off her speeches.

Miss Newbury spoke over an hour, but not to a restless audience. They enjoyed her witty comments on Liberian attempts at agriculture, family life and living in the bush without the necessities of such things as plumbing and telephones.

Best wishes to Harry Vondrak, the new Chamber president and his board of directors, on a successful year with the Chamber.

Dawson Oil company is making plans to build a second major service outlet in the Nebraska City area.

Instead of U.S. 75 as the highway, it will be the interstate at the Percival junction. Nebraska City is expected to be a major busy intersection for car and truck traffic and the engineers have planned that to include the interstate intersection.

Bill Dawson said he is well pleased with his location in relation to the interstate. "We're in a real good place with a shot right off the interstate in a clear view to drivers."

"Easy Rider," a film made, in the language of the movie people as skimpy-on-money, is packing theaters across the country to the tune that may make it a box office smash in 1969.

The film was made on $450,000 borrowed money by Bert Schneider. The job took him seven weeks. In contrast, "Doctor Doolittle" took $17 million and a year to produce.

Easy Rider has been booked at the Pioneer on New Year's, Sid Metcalf said,

Understand the movie goer comes out of the theater a bit disgusted and supporting the two motorcyclists and not the townspeople.

Wall Street Journal printed an interesting article on films today, as Mrs Arthur Sackles pointed out. Most movie goers are 14 to 25 years of age and they don't give a hoot for the $20 million Liz Taylor glamor stuff. They want a story.

Friends of Animals, Inc., New York, sent a clipping from the October 24 News-Press of the story about cats suspected as carriers of leukemia.

Alice Herrington, president of the organization, quotes an authority that "There is no evidence at present that cat leukemia viruses infect humans or cause leukemia in humans." She cites three other authorities and specialists who defend cats.

Thank you, Miss (or Mrs) Herrington; There'd be heck to pay in our house if our youngest had to give up "Buffy," last year's gift.

Bishop Sheen: "There are three kinds of news – good news, bad news and Agnews."

The great feats of the astronauts on this trip to the moon will go down in the record books as a team effort.

They are sailors, in effect, and are on the Navy's payroll.

Wonder if the moon voyage would have been done any different under the good ole' Navy custom – the right way, the wrong way and the Navy way.
