Campus trouble is seen for this year

By DAVID AYLWARD
and CAROL ANN ROSS

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's college campuses are in for... another round of trouble this season according to the consensus among students and educators.

How violent that trouble will be, what will be its catalyst and how the universities will deal with it are the variables.

UPI reporters interviewed people on 72 campuses in 31 states to determine the outlook for a renewal of the violence that dominated many campuses the past school year.

We Cant Communicate

One of the gravest forecasts was issued by Eugene Klingman, assistant vice chancellor for student affairs at the University of Wisconsin:

"We can't communicate with them (the trouble-causers). What we are hearing is that there will probably not be the degree of mass confrontations we've had in the past, but the tactic will be hit-and-run, by a small, hard core group of very dedicated people whose tactic will be destruction."

The Madison, Wis., campus already has experienced that sort of thing, in the Aug. 24 bombing of an Army mathematics research center.

Robert Perrin, vice president for university relations at Michigan State University, said, "It would be foolish for anybody to try to predict what will happen. But we know of no outstanding issues that would provide any excuse for violent action this fall."

Some Optimism

An administrator at Wayne State University in Detroit, who asked that his name not be used, responded: "We are optimistic of chances of campus peace in the upcoming school year. However, student concern over the war in Vietnam continues and the fall election campaign could provide other causes for militants."

A spokesman at Rice University in Texas: "There is a better chance for peace. Violence has already peaked and proved to be ineffective."

A University of Rhode Island dean who preferred to remain anonymous said President Nixon's actions in the coming months will be a crucial factor in whether there will be unrest on his campus.

An anonymous administrator at Bowdoin College in Maine said: "Our problems will have to be resolved within the context of national and international problems MMM

"In a sense, colleges are helpless to control campus peace. If the current trend toward de-escalation of the Vietnam war is reversed, it could be disastrous to college peace."

The Chancellors will play for the dance September 12 at the armory following the Tarkio-Peru State football game.

COUNTY CLERK

Clerk Gerald Schmitz received 100 signs Friday to be posted at bridges throughout the county noting capacity. There were 50 seven ton signs and 50 five ton signs.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS

The county commissioners will meet Tuesday, 9 a.m., for regular claims. One item to be considered will be the purchase of a carload of bridge planks, three inches thick, 12 inches wide and varied lengths of 14, 16, 18 and 20 feet. Bids are expected from Capital Steel and Mid-West Lumber, Lincoln.

SHERIFF'S OFFICE

The State Highway Patrol was trying to find Alexander Jones, Lincoln, Friday and radioed the message to the sheriff's office. Lawmen promptly began a search for the license number given. The message for the man was "change in plans," with no further explanation. It developed that the license number broadcast was in error and the man who was found here went on his way. When the correction was forthcoming in the license number, the man was notified by a state trooper south of Nebraska City.

Ex-Nazi to speak at Midland college

FREMONT (UPI) — Dr. Otto Strasser, who was declared Public Enemey No. 1 by the Nazis during World War II, will open the Midland College 1970-71 Convocation and Lecture Series with a public convocation Sept. 21.

All convocations will be at 7:30 p.m. Mondays in the Swanson Science Hall Auditorium on campus, unless otherwise noted, according to Dr. Albert Wiederhold, coordinator of the series. The lectures are free and open to the public.

Dr. Strasser, who is semi-retired in Munich, is making his first lecture tour of the United States under the sponsorship of Dr. Reuben Lang, associate professor of history at Midland. He will also appear at some 20 other colleges and universities in the country. His talk is titled "My Battle with Hitler."

The buck Ends here . . . .

By Ivan D.E. Beaumont

We joined the visitors to Dr M.B. DeJarnette's home the other night to look over his gun collection.

Our house has a gun cabinet, but it houses only a couple weapons (and naturally, a super-dooper-pooper BB gun) so it was a sight to behold as we stepped into the gun room at the doctor's home.

The State Historical Society calls his collection one of the finest in the U.S. And surely that authority knows something about historical collections. I don't and never intend to be an authority on anything.

But I do have an appreciation of others who have such interesting hobbies. And I admire the beauty and handiwork of tooled guns.

Doctor DeJarnette said it is a sad day to give up his collection, but then he adds, that he has had it beginning 60 years ago and he has no use for it now.

His late wife, Todde, shared his interest.

Marijuana or "grass" may be closer than we think. Not only is this area a harvest haven for marijuana, but it is also smoked here, some people say.

We've heard that dozens of times, but as yet have never known it for sure.

But didya know:

That grass is available in 20-pack wrappings or in loose form (apparently like the old Bull Durham bags) and that it is used as a form of getting boozed up without getting sick?

Didya know also that marijuana was available in leaf form packed neatly in Prince Albert cans . . . .35 years ago in the central part of Nebraska?

Up on the North 40

Mayor Louie Genoa has been approached by the North 40 Vigilantes on whether to annex Northside school or build another. . . .seems the population includes school people such as Superintendent Jim Withee, Junior High Principal Doug Dickerson and understand Elementary Principal Jerry Jacobson will hear up our way.

Note to D.W. Kicker — We can tell by the morning ground fog that frost will hit the "hill" before the downtowners get it so you better get out those red five-buckle overshoes.

The Virg Pitsticks of Hansville, Wash., will be "home" in Nebraska City late this month and "we'll be open for business October 1," Virg said in a letter asking that an ad be inserted in the paper.

"We have enjoyed a beautiful, but short, summer here in the northwest and have appreciated the visits of serveral Nebraska Citians."

The travelers tell me that Virg still keeps up the same pace and has a dozen projects going at one time.

Understand the VFW is considering relocating its post home on South Eleventh street, moving from its present location north on U.S. 75.

One of the nice things about being in the printing business, we can dig something out of a drawer and read what happened.

That was the occasion when my desk drawer fell on the floor and the junk scattered about. There was that attractive folder:

"The Nebraska City Junior Chamber of Commerce BEAUTY PAGEANT".

It was held April 24, 1957 at the Armory. Candidates were Marilyn Ahrens, Genene Brandt, Nancy DeLong, Ardith Ehlers, Wanda Head, Marlene Hutton, Ruth Janssen and Carla Wademan. Miss Brandt was selected as Miss Nebraska City.

W.R. "Bill" Yates, was president of the Jaycees. He was manager of the former American Loan here, now the AVCO firm.

The committee was Vaughn Hickman, Deryle Seefus, Roger McCreary, Bill Gangel, Bus Wymore, Bill Dawson, Les Beames, Kenneth Walker, Bill Schulz, Mary Porter, Mrs Dean Twidell, Ted Granger, Fred Rebstock and Forest Gaskill.

Marine Lance Corporal Dana Davis, son of Mr and Mrs Ray Davis, is stationed five miles north of DaNang in Vietnam and he's looking forward to civilian life.

We know Dana pretty well here. He worked in our mail room during high school years. And we've tried to follow him since graduation from Senior High. He enlisted into the Marines, was accepted into a school for repair of office machines, was stationed in California and now in Vietnam.

Dana's dad was also a lance corporal and served in the Corps in office machine repair.

Dana's not alone in Vietnam. He's met and chummed with Lance Cpl. Ron Sudman, son of Mr and Mrs George Sudman, Nebraska City. The boys have got together several times and if they are like all good GI's, they painted the town red.

Chile votes for Doctor Allende

SANTIAGO (UPI) —Dr. Salvador Allende won the popular vote in Chile's presidential balloting today, clearing the way for him to be named the world's first freely-elected Marxist chief of state.

Allende, backed by the Communists in his bid for the presidency and a close friend of Cuba's Fidel Castro, in his victory speech pledged "the best political, cultural and economic relations with all nations of the world" and asked that "they respect, as they must, the right of the people of Chile to have a popular unity government."

Alleden, 62, beat two opponents at the polls —rightest ex-President Jorge Alessandri and Radomiro Tomic, backed by President Eduardo Frei's Christian Democratic party. However, Allende did not receive more than 50 per cent of the votes in the three-day race. Congress, acting as an electoral college, will choose between him and his runner-up Alessandri.

Church opinions printed by owner

Religion in America
By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Religion Writer

Patrick J. Frawley, Jr., a publicity-shy West Coast millionaire who has bankrolled many conservative causes, is moving into a powerful position as an opinion-maker in the Roman Catholic church.

Frawley's Twin Circle Publishing Co., which he established only three years ago, now controls two of the five national Catholic newspapers in the United States.

It also publishes books, syndicates comic strips, and sponsors two widely disseminated broadcasts, a five-minute daily radio program over 650 stations, and a half-hour weekly television show aired in 40 cities.

Reflect Concern

All of Twin Circle's publications and broadcasts faithfully reflect Frawley's commitment to a traditionalist type of Catholicism and his concern about a possible Communist takeover of the United States.

The 46-year-old millionaire, who made his fortune in ballpoint pens (Papermate) and razor blades (Schick and Eversharp), has been prominent in anti-Communist activities since the Castro regime came to power in Cuba. He has contributed substantial sums to Dr. Fred Schwarz's Christian Anti-Communism Crusade and the American Jewish League Against Communism.

In 1965, at a meeting of the Cardinal Mindszenty Foundation, he met the Rev. Daniel Lyons, S. J., a Jesuit priest who shares Frawley's fear that domestic traitors may sell America down the river into Communist domination. Lyons suggested they join forces in a publishing venture, and the Twin Circle Company came into being, as a subsidiary of Frawley's Schick Investment Corp.

Fr. Lyons is president of Twin Circle, and is featured on its broadcasts. Until recently, he also was editor of the weekly newspaper, Twin Circle, which has a national circulation of about 102,000.

Bishops' Accusations

Last month, he was eased out of the editorship in the wake of strong protests from several Catholic bishops who accused him of grossly distorting their role in settlement of the California grape strikes.

Meanwhile, the Twin Circle Company has bought another newspaper—the 57-year-old National Catholic Register, which has a circulation of about 112,000.

The other Catholic papers with national circulation are The Wanderer, a voice of the far right; Our Sunday Visitor, a moderate-to-conservative weekly which devotes more space to doctrinal and moral issues than to news; and the National Catholic Reporter, a left-liberal weekly which advocates sweeping reforms in the church.

Agnew's son makes news

WASHINGTON — (UPI) —Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's son, James Rand "Randy" Agnew, has been separated from his wife for the past six months, columnist Jack Anderson said today.

After his column, embargoed for Tuesday, was prematurely released Friday, Anderson distributed his column to the wire services.

Anderson said Agnew as acknowledged the separation, "but insisted that 'it has been amicable.'"

The column said Randy, 24, had been sharing an apartment with another man in Baltimore, Md., since the break-up with his wife, Ann, 22. They have a daughter, Michelle Ann, 3, the vice president's only grandchild. Agnew's 1968 campaign plane was named after her.

Anderson said Randy "works as a weightlifting instructor in a suburban health salon," Holiday Health Salon in Towson, Md.

Agnew was quoted as saying, "I don't see him from day to day, but he comes down once a week or so. He is living in a converted garage. I have never seen this place, but I know where he is living."

Until his apartment in the converted garage is ready, Randy is living with Buddy Hash, 27, arrested last September on a charge of marijuana possession and in 1964 for "keeping a disorderly house," Anderson said. Both charges were dismissed.

Hash said the disorderly house charge was lodged after a "roommate allegedly roughed up a young boy," the column said. It said Hash operates the La Triolet Beauty Parlor with his mother in East Baltimore.

Anderson said, "Randy told this column he knew nothing of Hash's arrest record."

Manson case is in recess

LOS ANGELES (UPI) —A youth who claims he saw Charles Manson carrying the gun used to shoot Jay Sebring has been judged competent to testify in the Sharon Tate murder trial, even though he presently is undergoing psychiatric tests.

The prosecution Friday called Michael Hendricks, 18, to testify that at the Spahn Ranch he once saw Manson holding the .22-caliber long - barreled revolver which was the murder weapon.

The defense objected to Hendrick as a witness because he is under 90-day observation at Atascadero State Hospital, where he was sent by the California Youth Authority.

'Hangup With Guns'

After an hour-long hearing outside the presence of the jury, Superior Court Judge Charles H. Older ruled Hendricks was capable of testifying.

Hendricks, who was charged with burglary in a juvenile court action in Ventura County, said he had been sent to the state hospital "to find out why I do the things I do when I'm on the streets and about my hangup with guns."

Hendricks was expected to begin his testimony before the jury when the trial resumes next Thursday. The trial was recessed for a five-day holiday because of Labor Day on Monday, and California Admission Day on Wednesday.
